Office Market Update: Barcelona – 22@

A contrarian investment thesis supporting the development of a Grade A office asset

The Opportunity

- Barcelona continues to position itself as one of Europe's leading innovation hubs, ranked as the top startup ecosystem in Southern Europe and consolidating the 22@ District as the city's most dynamic office submarket, concentrating nearly half of Barcelona's total take-up
- This stable momentum is expected to continue, supported by the Barcelona Impulsa 2035 plan, which aims to cluster the city's innovation, creativity, and technology hubs within 22@ as strategic location. Since 2018, the number hubs in the district has doubled, reinforcing long-term demand
- Vacancy in 22@ is expected to decline as demand continues to absorb new supply, echoing the compression phase seen in the 2016 cycle, when limited prime product created a compelling window for investors
- At the same time, despite today's elevated vacancy levels, market fundamentals align with the early stages of the 2016-2019 upcycle: competitive rents, attractive yields, and resilient occupier demand suggest a favourable entry point for long-term value creation

Conclusions

- 1 CBD vacancy below 3%: no prime availability
- 3 22@ leads demand (c.50% of take-up)
- 3 Limited pipeline: rising net absorption, rents trending up, prime yields <5%
- 4 2026-2029 cycle to replicate 2016-2019 trend
